Federal Recognition Update

Recognition Efforts

In 1980, the Nipmuc Tribal Council, Hassanamisco Reservation, in Grafton, Massachusetts submitted a Letter of Intent to Petition for Federal Acknowledgement. After the Petition had been placed on active consideration, a division occurred and a separate letter of intent was filed, in 1996, on behalf of the Webster/Dudley Band of Chaubunagogunmaug Nipmuck Indians. In January of 2001, the Acting Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs finally issued two preliminary factual findings regarding the two petitions. One was a preliminary finding that the Nipmuc Nation should be granted federal recognition. The second was a preliminary finding that the Chaubunagogunmaug Band had not met all of the seven criteria necessary to prove the existence of a Tribe.

In September of that year, under a new administration, the new Assistant Secretary issued new proposed findings. These new findings reversed the proposed findings regarding the Nipmuc Nation, finding that the Tribe had not met all of the seven criteria, and approved the original recommendation regarding the Chaubunagogunmaug Band. The Assistant Secretary noted that the original proposed findings had never been published in the Federal Register, as required, and stated that the Bureau of Indian Affairs, therefore, viewed these cases as pending matters which had not been finally decided by the prior administration.

Briefly, the new proposed findings for the Nipmuc Nation note that the Nation failed to meet the first, second, third, and fifth criteria necessary to meet federal recognition standards. These criteria are: that the Tribe has been identified as an American Indian entity on a continuous basis since 1900; that most of the petitioning Tribe is a community that has existed from historical times until the present; that the Tribe had political influence or authority over its members since historical times; and that the Tribe’s membership must be made up of descendants from a historical Tribe.

With regard to the first criterion, the Assistant Secretary noted that there had been regular external identification of people associated with the Hassanamisco Reservation since 1900. However, there had been no identification of any continuing Chaubunagogunmaug Band between 1900 and the late 1970’s. Since the original petition included the Chaubunagogunmaug Band, the findings regarding that Band appear to have hurt the petition of the Nipmuc Nation as a whole.

The Assistant Secretary also found problems with the second criterion and proposed finding that from the 1780’s through 1869 there was not enough evidence of community among the members of the Hassanamisco Band. The proposed findings also found problems from the 1860’s until the 1960’s. The Assistant Secretary noted that most of the evidence related to the activities of

Energy Assistance

If you are low-income, you may be eligible for energy assistance. If your income falls within 0-150% of the federal poverty guidelines or if you get cash assistance from the Department of Social Services, you qualify for help from the Connecticut Energy Assistance Program (CEAP). If your income is slightly higher AND you have a disabled or elderly (60+ years) member of your household, you may qualify for the State Appropriated Fuel Assistance Program (SAFA).

Apply for CEAP and SAFA assistance at local Community Action Agencies. Call 1-800-842-1132 or INFOLINE at 211 for local sites. (You may also call these numbers to get any other energy information.) The application period is 11/1/02 through 4/30/02. If you get AFDC, TFA, AABD or food stamps, DSS should send you preprinted application forms. The heating bills must be in the name of a household member and a copy of the bill should be included with your application.

If you use deliverable fuel (oil, propane, gas, coal, kerosene, and wood) and you use up all your heat benefits before March 29, 2002, you can get Crisis Assistance. Up to $200 is available to you if you cannot buy a deliverable fuel and that causes a life-threatening situation. Safety Net benefits may be available after that. Call INFOLINE for information.

only one extended family in that band. In addition, the Assistant Secretary found that there was no direct social interaction between the two Bands for nearly two centuries. Finally, the Assistant Secretary found that the current membership of the Nation was, to a large extent, the result of "a deliberate recruitment effort undertaken from 1989 through 1994."

Regarding the third criterion, the Assistant Secretary found that the only evidence of political authority related only to one extended family. The evidence did not show that it extended over any other family associated with the Hassanamisco Reservation. Finally, with respect to the fifth criterion, the Assistant Secretary stated that only 54% of the members of the Nipmuc Nation could document that they were descended from the historical Nipmuc Tribe.

With respect to the Petition filed for the Chaubunagungamaug Band, the Assistant Secretary repeated the findings made in the Nipmuc Petition regarding the first criterion. The documentation for the period from 1900 to 1978 provided no evidence of external identification of the group as an American Indian entity.

Regarding the second criterion, the Assistant Secretary found that the Band could prove that a community existed until 1890. From 1890 until 1891, the evidence became weaker, but was still adequate to meet the criterion. The Assistant Secretary concluded, however, that from 1891 until the mid-1970's, the evidence does not show community between the core family of the Band and "any other Nippucks of Dudley/Webster descent." The Assistant Secretary found the same problems over the same time period regarding the third criterion.

The parties have 180 days from the publication of these proposed findings in the Federal Register to challenge the proposed findings.

Deadlines Set For Recognition by Federal Courts

In December, a U.S. District Court judge set a June 4, 2002 deadline for the BIA to issue its final decision on the petitions for recognition filed by the Eastern Pequots and the Paucatuck Eastern Pequots. Both Tribes have received preliminary recognition for their petitions.

Also in December, the Golden Hill Paugussetts, reached an agreement requiring the BIA to rule on its petition by no later than 2003. That matter is in federal court. The Schaghticoke Tribal Nation has also turned to the courts to speed up the recognition process.

The Recognition Process

In November of 2001, the General Accounting Office issued a study of the process used by the Bureau of Indian Affairs to grant federal recognition to Indian Tribes. The study concluded that:

Because of weaknesses in the recognition process, the basis for BIA's recognition decisions is not always clear and the length of time involved can be substantial. First, while there are set criteria that petitioners must meet to be granted recognition, there is no clear guidance that explains how to interpret key aspects of the criteria. For example, it is not always clear what level of evidence is sufficient to demonstrate a tribe's continuous existence over a period of time. As a result, there is less certainty about the basis of recognition decisions. Second, the regulatory process is not equipped to respond in a timely manner.

The GAO study went on to note that BIA did not have enough staff to handle the increased workload in the recognition area. In addition, there were no effective timelines that imposed any sense of urgency in resolving petitions.

The Department of the Interior commented on the GAO study and generally agreed with its findings and recommendations.

Important Tax Information

Claim your Earned Income Credit.

If you worked in 2001, you may be eligible for up to $4008 through the Earned Income Credit. You can get the EIC even if you don't owe income tax.

If you were raising children in 2001, file federal tax return Forms 1040 or 1040A, not Form 1040EZ. Be sure to attach Schedule EIC. If you weren't raising children in 2001, file the return you would normally file. Be sure to write "EIC" or the dollar amount of your credit on the Earned Income Credit line of your tax form.

FREE Help Filing Taxes! VITA. A program of the IRS, helps people fill out their tax forms for free. VITA sites are open from late January through April 15. For information call 1-800-829-1040. Paying for tax preparation takes money away from YOUR refund.

EIC Advance Payment. You can increase your take-home pay by using the EIC Advance Payment option. With this plan, your employer can add part of your EIC to every paycheck. You get the rest of your credit after you file your return. In order to qualify, you must be a worker with at least one "qualifying child" and you must expect your 2002 income to be less than $29,201. Fill out a W-5 form and give the bottom part to your employer. If you get advance payments during the year, file a tax return at the end of the year and include the total amount you received as an advance payment.

Child Tax Credit and The Child and Dependent Care Credit. You may also qualify for other federal tax credits. The Child Tax Credit is worth up to $600 per child in 2001 for families with children under age 17. Congress has made changes to this credit. The credit is now refundable—you can get the credit even if you owe no income tax. The Child and Dependent Care Credit helps pay for child care you need in order to work or look for work. You can also use the credit if you must pay for the care of a spouse or an adult dependent who cannot care for him or herself. Because of changes in the law, you may benefit by filing for both credits. That was not always true in the past.

Free Help For Tax Problems
If you are a low income tax payer facing an audit, an administrative appeal, or litigation about your state or federal taxes, you may be eligible for free legal help.
